

Increasing Prices.

It cannot be said that R-publican Congressmen have ever been deaf to the complaints and grievances, real or imaginary, of the favored manufacturers of the Northeast. Whenever they grumble, Congress listens. When they complain that they are making profits of only 10 to 15 per cent. in their business, Congress asks how it can help them make 25 to 40. When they say the tariff is too low, Congress is ready to make it higher. When they say the tariff is too high on certain things which they need to buy, Congress makes it lower, or removes it entirely. If they say that they cannot make money fast enough by selling one dollar's worth of goods for $1.50, Congress promptly revises the tariff and increases the duties so as to compel the people to pay $1.75 for the dollar's worth; and when, after a time, this exorbitant price fails to satisfy their insatiable greed, Congress revises the tariff again and increases the duties so as to enable them to sell a dollar's worth of goods for $1.85.

The woolen manufacturers have been complaining for some time past that the tariff which protects them did not protect them sufficiently; it was not high enough. The McKinley bill therefore makes it higher. It increases the duty on woolen goods from 70 per cent. to 132 per cent. It increases the duty on one grade of worsted knit goods for underwear and women and children's dress goods from 73 per cent. to 170 per cent.; on another grade from 68 per cent. to 147 per cent.; and on a third grade from 67 per cent. to 129 per cent. Under the new law, therefore, the same quantity of knit goods that has heretofore been sold for $1.73 will cost $2.70; the same quantity of another grade that has been sold for $1.76 will cost $2.76; the same quantity of another grade that could be bought for $1.48 will cost $2.47; and the same quantity of another grade that could be bought for $1.67 will cost $2.29.

Then there are the manufacturers of cotton ties; they complained that the duty was too low for them to make as much money in the business as they thought they ought to—and so the bill increases it from 35 per cent. to 104 per cent.—nearly trebling it. Of course it is pretty severe on a cotton plant; but make him pay $2.04 for one dollar's worth of the iron bands he must have to bind his bales with—but the manufacturer must be accommodated, even if the Southern planters who use cotton ties, and Western farmers who use binding twine have to suffer for it.

Next in order are the cotton manufacturers. They asked for more protection and they get it in an increase of duties from 40 per cent. to 60 per cent. on some kinds of goods and from 40 per cent. to 100 per cent. on other kinds.

The manufacturers of rubber goods were not overlooked. They all live in the favored States of Massachusetts—and when a body of wealthy Massachusetts manufacturers make a quest of a Republican Congress it is received with special attention. The rubber goods people asked for a still higher duty, and, of course, they get it, for the new law gives them power to exact $1.95 for every dollar's worth of rubber garments they sell.

But, while Republican Congresses take such good care of Northeastern manufacturers, and spend 10 months of a long session in devising a law to increase the prices of their goods, who ever heard of Republican Congresses paying heed to the grievances of farmers and enacting laws to increase the prices of their crops? When did a Republican Congress pass a bill to raise the price of wheat from 70 cents to $1.40 a bushel, corn from 20 cents to 40 cents, hay from $5 to $16 a ton, and cattle from 3 cents to 6 cents a pound?

It is replied that it is not the business of Congress to double the price of wheat, corn, hay and cattle; that these things must take their chance in the market, and the Government has no right to interfere and make consumers pay more for them than they are worth; and this is true; the Government has not the right to double the market price of wheat, corn, hay and cattle. But has it any better right to double the price of tin buckets, calico, cotton goods, undershirts, blankets and cotton ties.—St. Joseph Bulletin.

Mr. Vest and the Combine.

The charge is made in a number of papers that the Chicago beef combine is furnishing money to defeat Senator Vest. There may be some truth in this charge, as such combines are not usually particular about how they accomplish a desired end. Senator Vest has provoked the enmity of the beef combine, and he is regarded as a very troublesome man and likely to give the concern more trouble in the future if he is re-elected.

It is not to be doubted that the Chicago combine would rejoice to learn of his defeat. When all the known facts are put together there is some room to believe that the combine has effected an alliance with Boss Filley with the hope that Senator Vest can be defeated, and some willing tool of the combine, trusts and corporations elected in his place.

We hardly think that the average Missourian will endorse the idea of a Chicago firm having control over Missouri. The people have heretofore managed to attend to this matter themselves, and they will probably insist upon pursuing the same old course in the future. At best there is not much respect felt in this state for the beef combine. It is detrimental to the stock market and a curse to the western stockmen. The fact that Senator Vest has been fighting the combine is not at all injurious to his standing in this state.—Jefferson City Tribune.

OFFICE OF MISSOURI FISH COMMISSION.

ALL THE NEWS

That is what THE ST. LOUIS CHRONICLE contains, but not a line of word-padding. It is better than ever, and it has just spent $40,000 for two new lightning presses, stereotyping machinery, new type and building improvements. But it proposes to spend more. On and after October 11-12 an eight-page Saturday paper for city circulation, and an eight-page Sunday paper for country circulation, will be issued.

FOR

THE ST. LOUIS CHRONICLE is ever alert in the interest of its readers. Are you one of them? If you are not you are liable, unless you reform, to miss many a treat. News is THE CHRONICLE'S strong point, but it is not weak in literature. Beginning October 12 a great serial novel, by M. Jules Mary, will begin. M. Mary is a second Victor Hugo, and Paradise Lost is the reigning French sensation. It has been translated for THE CHRONICLE. If you fail to read it you will be sorry.

TRUSTEE'S SALE.

Whereas, Samuel King, and Margaret C. King, his wife, by their certain deed of trust, dated March 24th, 1884, recorded in the office of the Recorder of Deeds for the County of Iron, State of Missouri, in book 31, page 109, did convey to the undersigned trustee, all their right, title and interest in and to the following tract or parcel of land, situate, lying and being in the County of Iron and State of Missouri, viz:

The northeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section thirty-four, and the north part of the southeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section thirty-four; the southwest quarter of section thirty-four; the southwest quarter of section thirty-five and the part of the southeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section thirty-five, which lies north of Brushy Creek; and the east part of the southwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section thirty-four, and the west part of the northeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section thirty-five to Crain Pond Creek, and north of Brushy Creek; and all of that part of southwest quarter of northeast quarter of section thirty-five which lies above described real estate, to the highest bidder for cash, to satisfy said note, and the costs and expenses of this trust.

Which said conveyance was made in trust to secure the payment of one certain promissory note therein mentioned and described:

And whereas said note is long since due, and remains unpaid:

Now, therefore, at the request of the legal holder of said note, and in pursuance of the terms of said deed of trust, I, the undersigned trustee, will, on at the east front door of the courthouse in the city of Ironton, Iron County, Missouri, between the hours of 9 o'clock A. M. and 5 o'clock P. M. of that day, sell at public vendue the above described real estate, to the highest bidder for cash, to satisfy said note, and the costs and expenses of this trust.

Witness my hand and Seal, this 1st day of October, 1890.

L. L. FLETCHER,

Trustee.
